Glucosamine & HA Glossary:

Regenasure® Glucosamine is a vegetarian form of glucosamine HCL derived from Aspergillus Niger. Studies have proven that it actually builds joint cartilage. It enhances the body's ability to manufacture collagen (which holds the body together) and it contributes to the synovial fluid that lubricates joints. In effect, it absorbs and releases water with each step, acting as a shock absorber for the joints. Glucosamine is effective in alleviating symptoms of hip dysplasia and osteoarthritis.

MSM (Methylsulfonylmethane) is an organic form of sulfur, a mineral that is necessary for the production of proteins in the body. Sulfur is necessary for the formation of hair, muscles, skin, bones, teeth, cartilage, and the hormone insulin. MSM works synergistically with vitamin C in the synthesis of collagen.

Hyaluronic Acid is a component of connective tissue whose function is to cushion and lubricate. It is a primary component of synovial fluid, which lubricates and reduces friction between bones for healthy, pain-free joint movement.

Grape Seed Extract is a powerful antioxidant that protects cells from free radical damage. It is anti-inflammatory, it supports the circulatory system, and it promotes healthy skin and coat, especially when MSM is present.

Boron is involved in proper bone structure and strength, and has been used effectively in the treatment of arthritis and osteoporosis. It appears to have a regulatory effect on calcium and potassium metabolism.

Bromelain is an enzyme that helps to inhibit pro-inflammatory compounds, which reduces pain and swelling. It has been found to be very effective in helping to control the progression of degenerative joint diseases.

Vitamin C contributes to the synthesis of collagen, and to the synthesis of a neurotransmitter that is critical to brain function and temperament. It is important to bone growth and mineralization, and it may help to prevent hip dysplasia.

Manganese is an essential trace element that enhances the effectiveness of Glucosamine. It is responsible for the activation of a number of enzymes, such as the enzymes required for the synthesis of proteoglycans that are utilized in the formation of healthy cartilage and bone. It is essential for a healthy immune system.

Omega 3, 6, & 9 Essential Fatty Acids reduce the inflammation associated with arthritis and alleviate joint stiffness. They are useful in the prevention of cardiac problems, and they help to maintain proper eye function. They are also very helpful in restoring a dull, dry coat and reducing the symptoms of allergic dermatitis.
